

Biography

Álvaro Fonseca is since 2016 the General Manager of Takargo, the first private rail freight operator in Portugal. Before Takargo he has worked for almost a decade in the largest Portuguese port operator (Tertir, now Yilport Iberia) as commercial manager in two container terminals and as business developer of several large international projects in ports and logistic. He holds a Bsc. and a Msc. in Civil Engineering from Instituto Superior Técnico, in Portugal, and a MBA from Universidade Nova de Lisboa | Universidade Católica Portuguesa (The Lisbon MBA). He is married and has two children.